

From the ISC2020 organising committee we are highly committed to promote gender balance and geographical diversity, especially from developing countries of Southern Europe, Eastern European non-EU countries and South and Central America. As for other editions, we plan to attract students from a diversity of countries all over the world. In our last school, ISC2018, we had an attendance from 17 different countries.

We also strongly encourage the participation of female students. For instance, in the last edition (ISC2018) we gave 46% of the grants to female vs. 54% for males, which helped to the overall participation of females in the school (34% of females).

In addition, for the forthcoming ISC2020 there are 7 female speakers (32%) and 15 (68%) male speakers, but we make sure that there is a female speaker co-chairing in every session of the school.
